

NABA’s National Treasurer and CFO Appointed to Virginia Tech’s Accounting and Information Systems Advisory Board

Kenneth E. Cooke, CPA, national treasurer and CFO, of the National Association of Black Accountants, Inc. (NABA) has been selected to serve on a three-year appointment of the Accounting and Information Systems Advisory Board of Virginia Tech.

Greenbelt, MD-(November 20, 2008)-Kenneth E. Cooke, CPA, national treasurer and CFO for the National Association of Black Accountants, Inc.(NABA) was recently selected through the nominations committee at Virginia Tech, to serve on a three-year appointment to the Accounting and Information Systems Advisory board. Cooke, will most likely be slated to work on the Curriculum Committee for his appointment. The purpose of this committee is to assist in keeping the curriculum to graduate on the cutting edge. To do this, the committee and its members must be kept abreast of the changes in and outside of the accounting environment (technical pronouncements, business, industry, etc.) as well as possess a thorough understanding of the particular curriculum needs that are to be developed and/or enhanced.

The board meets annually, and all other committee work is via conference calls or a one-off special meeting for that committee.

“I am truly excited and proud of this selection as well as grateful to have the opportunity to serve on the board of the department that enabled me to become a CPA. This is a great honor for both me and NABA. As NABA celebrates’ its 40th anniversary next year, this appointment will allow our membership and leadership to continue to leverage the power of NABA going forward. This reaffirms what NABA has enabled me and others to achieve as well as accomplish within the profession.”
